

Cultural Transformation

How to build a high performing workplace culture

The highest performing organizations today are values-driven and pay close attention to their organizational culture. In fact, they work hard at consciously creating and maintaining their culture, which they use as a competitive advantage to become an “employer of choice” to attract, retain and develop the talent needed to achieve aggressive goals and objectives.

Building a values-driven organization is about unleashing the potential within individuals, teams and leadership to create a high performing culture. One that is healthy, engaged and productive. A culture that provides winning conditions for its leaders, employees, customers, and key stakeholders.

More than ever before individuals are socially conscious and aware of the implications of change on people. This means leaders need to manage change and lead in a way that is values-driven, ethical, caring and empathetic, doing the right thing for people in the right way.

Employees want to be heard. By learning how to have dialogue that supports cultural transformation, the course teaches leaders, managers and facilitators how to have the conversations that really matter to employees, giving them a voice in the process of change.

Become an “Employer of Choice” to Attract, Engage, and Retain Top Talent.

Business Outcomes and Benefits:

- ▶ Cultural transformation tools map the link between performance and culture providing the ability to measure the % of entropy causing lost productivity, and lost opportunity;
- ▶ Having a roadmap going forward to identify the gaps to fill in performance and achieve strategic initiatives;
- ▶ Leadership development and alignment of values and behaviours to increase self-awareness and self-mastery enabling leaders to be more aware of the issues impacting employee performance and productivity.
- ▶ Building trust and collaboration on teams to increase internal cohesion which significantly increases the team’s ability to deliver on stated goals;
- ▶ Understanding the personal values of employees and aligning them in the organizational culture, to enable leaders to build engaging, productive workplace environments that are mission focused, and values driven to reduce the high cost of low employee engagement and turnover.
